Executive Summary

During this period, our organic traffic declined by 31%, signaling a need for strategic intervention. Despite a slight increase in search clicks, overall keyword performance remains stagnant, with no new organic keywords or backlinks acquired.

What Happened

Organic traffic decreased from 318 sessions to 220, a notable decline. Search clicks saw a marginal increase from 2218 to 2232. The keyword rankings and backlinks remained unchanged, indicating that there has been no progress in attracting new organic keywords.

Why It Happened

The decline in organic traffic may be attributed to seasonal trends or increased competition in our market space. The lack of keyword rankings and backlinks suggests a stagnation in our SEO efforts, which could further exacerbate the traffic decline if not addressed promptly.

What To Do Next

To reverse the decline in organic traffic, we recommend conducting a comprehensive SEO audit to identify and address gaps in our strategy. Additionally, focusing on content optimization for targeted keywords and building a backlink strategy should be prioritized to enhance visibility and attract more organic traffic.
